No other guide covers the complete retail picture like this exciting new volume. America's retail industry is in the midst of vast changes - superstores and giant discounters are popping up on major corners. Malls are lagging while "power centers" are surging ahead. Savvy firms are combining bricks, clicks and catalogs into multi-channel retail powerhouses. Which are the hottest retailers? What lies ahead? Our market research section shows you the trends and a thorough analysis of retail technologies, chain stores, shopping centers, mergers, finances and future growth within the industry. Included are major statistical tables showing everything from monthly U.S. retail sales, by sector, to mall sales per square foot, to the 10 largest malls in the US. Meanwhile, the corporate profiles section covering nearly 500 firms gives you complete profiles of the leading, fastest growing retail chains across the nation. From Wal-Mart and Costco to Barnes & Noble and Amazon, we profile the major companies that marketing executives, investors and job seekers most want to know about. These profiles include corporate name, address, phone, fax, web site, growth plans, competitive advantage, financial histories and up to 27 executive contacts by title. Purchasers of the printed book or PDF version may receive a free CD-ROM database of the corporate profiles, enabling export of vital corporate data for mail merge and other uses.

An integrated mobile testing study that utilized a large truck equipped with various testing equipment was conducted on Interstate I-70 in Colorado. The field study integrated wind measurement, vehicle dynamic monitoring and geospatial multimedia technology on a real-time and synchronized basis. Essential multi-type data was collected in both time and spatial domains for further investigations of wind characterizations and the safety performance of large trucks under crosswinds, in complicated topographic conditions and other environmental conditions. Environmental geospatial multimedia information for transportation safety has become a very important information source with data integration from both DOT and drivers' perspective in terms of planning, precise decision-making and management. Drivers can benefit from the geospatial multimedia information of road environments in terms of driving safety and confidence. Based on the field testing results, a framework for a traffic vulnerable information system was developed, and the geospatial multimedia technology was integrated with environmental condition and just emerged in transportation engineering field and Web-based platform to assist transportation management and drivers. This study implemented Video Mapping System (VMS) technology along the I-70 mountain corridor, measured wind speeds in three dimensions and accelerations in two dimensions, and developed a Web-based geospatial multimedia database with embedded wind speeds and accelerations as environmental-related georeferenced vulnerable traffic information at selected feature points in the testing route.

This engaging book is the first full study of the satirical print in seventeenth-century England from the rule of James I to the Regicide. It considers graphic satire both as a particular pictorial category within the wider medium of print and as a vehicle for political agitation, criticism, and debate. Helen Pierce demonstrates that graphic satire formed an integral part of a wider culture of political propaganda and critique during this period, and she presents many witty and satirical prints in the context of such related media as manuscript verses, ballads, pamphlets, and plays. She also challenges the commonly held notion that a visual iconography of politics and satire in England originated during the 1640s, tracing the roots of this iconography back into native and European graphic cultures and traditions.

After a boy runs from getting a haircut, a bird drops a seed on his head which starts to grow, so instead of trying to rid himself of his new living hairstyle, the boy learns how to make the leaf grow and in turn, winds up growing a lot himself.

"Weather is the oldest story in the world--one we want to keep on telling each other when we meet, as though it were part of who we are, a story that wants to keep on telling itself, and affecting us, whether we like it or not. We breathe it in; we see embodied in it our fears and desires; it falls on our heads. And we'd better take care of it: our lives are in its hands." Marrying photographs from the collection of the National Library of Australia with an evocative and contemplative essay by poet Mark Tredinnick, Australia's Wild Weather is a lyric field guide to Australia's climate. Tredinnick considers what it means to be living at time when weather is no longer small talk; it is most of the news. Beautifully written, the author contemplates what weather means to us and how it affects our daily lives.

The author describes her life with autism and how she has used her strong visual sensibility to cope with it.
