4th November, 2020 is the day when Arnab officially started believing in KARMA — Aala Fatima (@aalafatima311) 1604555653000 In a very well worded Tweet, Harsh Goenka put things in perspective

I was never meant to be a writer, but I had the desire to narrate a few incidents and that got the writer inside me working. Before you start reading this story, I would like to mention that, this story is inspired by true events and the fictional changes that have been made are to protect the identity of the people involved. However, it has no relation whatsoever to anyone bearing the same name or names. Becoming a writer from a person belonging to a core technical background wasn't that easy. However, there are stories that force you to pick up a pen so that people can learn a lesson even without living the same in their own lives. All of us do something of our choice but not everyone is aware of the fact that commitment to see something through to completion is the essence of the efforts of a lot of people. There are so many people who are responsible in ways big and small, for this book being a reality today. I couldn't have done it without the support I received from all those people who always played an important role in my life and I know they will always be there. To each one of you, I pay my humble and most heartfelt thanks.

The sacred-secular divide permeates our churches, our seminaries, and our lives. By perpetuating the false belief that there are some areas of life that are not important to God, some callings that are second-class, and some spheres of society that are not worth engaging, the sacred-secular divide diminishes our understanding of God, discipleship, missiology, and the gospel itself. Seeking to liberate the global church from the power of this dichotomy, Whole-Life Mission for the Whole Church provides theological educators with the tools they need to combat the sacred-secular divide in the very realm where it is so often generated: the classroom. Filled with contributions from practitioners around the world, this book contains a wealth of insight into both the nature of the problem and the possibilities for its solution. The approaches suggested here are biblically rooted, contextually appropriate, and experientially tested, offering an excellent resource for educators desiring to transform their institutional cultures, curriculums, and classrooms into environments that envision, empower, and liberate the whole church for its role in the mission of God.

Karma is perhaps the most famous concept in Indian philosophy, but this is the first comprehensive study of its various meanings and philosophical implications. Karma and Rebirth in Classical Indian Traditions offers a harmony of approach and an underlying set of methodological assumptions: a corpus of definitions of karma, a dialectic between abstract theory and historical explanation, and an awareness of logical oppositions in theories of karma. No "solution" to the paradox of karma is offered, but the volume as a whole presents a consistent and encompassing approach to the many different, often conflicting, Indian statements of the problem. Broad in scope and richly detailed, this book demonstrates the impossibility of speaking of "the theory of karma" and supplies the basis for further study. Exploring methodological issues arising in the study of a non-Western system of soteriology and rebirth, the contributors question the interaction of medical and philosophical models of the human body, the incorporation of philosophical theories into practical religions with which they are logically incompatible, and the problem of historical reconstruction of a complex theory of human life. Abhimanyu, a young corporate executive suffering from depression and having a suicidal tendency, meets his mother, Subhra, who was also once a depression patient, after a gap of 10 years prior to going for his own treatment. Living in an ashram named "Inspirit Life Village" he got stuck there in lockdown and had to stay there for 90 days. During this period of 90 days, his mother poured down all the teachings She learnt to survive and uplift from depression through the power of Self Love. The book successfully represents the power of self love and the positive effect it has on depression.A must read for those trapped in the rat race and stressful life.

This book describes a participatory case study of a small family farm in Maharashtra, India. It is a dialectical study of cultivating cultivation: how paddy cultivation is learnt and taught, and why it is the way it is. The paddy cultivation that the family is doing at first appears to be 'traditional'. But by observation and working along with the family, the authors have found that they are engaging in a dynamic process in which they are questioning, investigating, and learning by doing. The authors compare this to the process of doing science, and to the sort of learning that occurs in formal education. The book presents evidence that paddy cultivation has always been varying and evolving through chance and necessity, experimentation, and economic contingencies. Through the example of one farm, the book provides a critique of current attempts to sustain agriculture, and an understanding of the ongoing agricultural crisis.

Considers the questions of free will in the great India epic, the Mahabharata.

A step-by-step guide to implementing Continuous Integration and Continuous Delivery (CI/CD) for Mobile, Hybrid, and Web applications DESCRIPTION The main objective of the book is to create Declarative Pipeline for programming languages such as Java, Android, iOS, AngularJS, NodeJS, Flutter, Ionic Cordova, and .Net. The book starts by introducing all the areas which encompass the field of DevOps Practices. It covers definition of DevOps, DevOps history, benefits of DevOps culture, DevOps and Value Streams, DevOps practices, different Pipeline types such as Build Pipeline, Scripted Pipeline, Declarative Pipeline, and Blue Ocean. Each chapter focuses on Pipeline that includes Static Code Analysis using SonarQube or Lint tools, Unit tests, calculating code coverage, publishing unit tests and coverage reports, verifying the threshold of code coverage, creating build/package, and distributing package to a specific environment based on the type of programming language. The book will also teach you how to use different deployment distribution environments such as Azure App Services, Docker, Azure Container Services, Azure Kubernetes Service, and App Center. By the end, you will be able to implement DevOps Practices using Jenkins effectively and efficiently. KEY FEATURES [] Understand how and when Continuous Integration makes a difference [] Learn how to create Declarative Pipeline for Continuous Integration and Continuous Delivery [] Understand the importance of Continuous Code Inspection and Code Quality [] Learn to publish Unit Test and Code Coverage in Declarative Pipeline [] Understand the importance of Quality Gates and Build Quality WHAT YOU WILL LEARN [] Use Multi-Stage Pipeline (Pipeline as a Code) to implement Continuous Integration and Continuous Delivery [] Create and configure Cloud resources using Platform as a Service Model [] Deploy apps to Azure App Services, Azure Kubernetes and containers [] Understand how to distribute Mobile Apps (APK and IPA) to App Center [] Improve Code Quality and Standards using Continuous Code Inspection WHO THIS BOOK IS FOR This book is for DevOps Consultants, DevOps Evangelists, DevOps Engineers, Technical Specialists, Technical Architects, Cloud Experts, and Beginners. Karma Sannyasa is a dynamic and practical way of life that helps the individual to develop higher awareness through life rather than away from it. Its concept is to live life fully, to participate in all events externally, while internally maintaining an attitude of non-doership. This book talks about Karma Sannyasa.
