Of the Lord Jesus to testify the gospel of the grace of God, I want us to understand today and I presented it to you over the past couple of months that I believe God has made to us some promises and given to us some assurances if we could take the journey from the promise to the destiny if we could take him at his word and trust what he said and go to the place that he is directed us.

Do we know the purpose of God for our life? God desired man from the beginning to have a destiny in life after Him! What are we in covenant with? The handwriting is on the wall! God is making a 911 call to man to seek the destiny He have for their life! Man's inability to recognize God's destiny for them, causes us to not know the end times upon us. Repent, the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand. Many have been denied in reaching destiny, but; not denied. We will reach that destiny, comprehend the times.

A close conceptual analysis of Herman Bavinck ' s (1854-1921) four-volume Reformed Dogmatics, this book explores a long-neglected feature of his “ organic ” relationship between nature and grace, arguing that the motif is intelligible only in a uniquely Reformed covenant theology.

Because of their faith in the crucified Messiah, the Christian nations are indebted to Israel. Yet they have largely marginalized and even rejected God's chosen people. In this volume Cardinal Jean-Marie Lustiger reflects on a number of subjects and concerns common to both Christians and Jews -- the Ten Commandments, fulfillment of biblical prophecy, Christian anti-Semitism, and more. As a Jewish-born Roman Catholic priest, Cardinal Lustiger has a unique viewpoint. He became Archbishop of Paris and a cardinal while remaining keenly aware of his indelible Jewish identity and of the vital Jewish roots of Christianity. Aware that his reflections may be controversial -- possibly offending Jewish and Christian readers alike -- he nonetheless boldly shares his perspectives in The Promise, hoping that readers will see him as speaking and writing in good faith, in the service of the Word of God given for the happiness and salvation of all.

Christians who otherwise love each other and work together on shared projects and causes nonetheless often disagree on the subject of baptism. Should infants be baptized, or is baptism for believers only? What exactly does baptism mean? What happens, if anything, when someone is baptized? Which is better -- sprinkling or immersion? These disagreements are disheartening to some and confusing to many. The sacrament of baptism from a Reformed perspective is clearly and thoughtfully outlined in this useful book. James Brownson explains the scriptural basis, the theological underpinnings, and the practical implications of this particular element of the faith. Organized into thirty brief, tightly focused chapters -- each of which centers on a key question -- and enhanced by thoughtful discussion questions, The Promise of Baptism will be an important resource for pastors, students, and laypersons seeking to better understand this sacrament that lies at the heart of the church's life. A sampling of key questions addressed: What is a sacrament, and how does it differ from an "ordinance"? What's the relationship between baptism and being "born again"? How do the sacraments bring God's grace to us? Can someone be "saved" without being baptized? Can someone be baptized without being saved? Does baptism take the place of circumcision as the mark of the new covenant? What is "confirmation" or "profession of faith," and what is its relationship to baptism? What happens after baptism?

robe, this is a stage of patience, then the blue which represents joy, and lastly the yellow which is breakthrough. All this is freely given to you by grace, it's God's love and favor to send his son for you to be saved and move to your destiny. After this, the book explores on the topic of worship, you start now to thank God for his love and grace because he saved you, this worship attitude will give you healing, joy, revelation of your gifting, and you will surely enter your destiny. Then we move to the topic of Jesus' love and grace for his people, compared to the way a man has to find an ideal wife to marry. Lastly, it speaks about the destiny of grace, how the grace trains you to renounce worldliness, to live a godly life, waiting for the blessed hope of eternal life, and you have to do good works through your gifting, this is how you enter your destiny.
