Depraetere and Langford, with 40 years of teaching experience between them, present a grammar pitched precisely at advanced learners of English who need to understand how the English language really works without getting lost in the specifics. Most linguistically-oriented grammars of English can be intimidating and complex. On the other hand, the more basic practical grammars also available are often not advanced enough. This book pulls from linguistic theory all the relevant notions that will enable the language student to fully grasp English grammar. After introducing form and function, the authors cover verbs, nouns, aspect and tense, modality and discourse. Readers are led through the underlying principles of language use, with the book presupposing only a basic grasp of linguistic terminology. It does not get bogged down in huge amounts of detail and focuses on the crucial issues. Full of exercises and with attention paid to moving the reader through their course, this is the desk reference grammar of choice for both native and non-native English speakers.

It is naivety that borders upon dishonesty to suggest that Britain's mediocre General Dental Council (GDC) is untouched by the decline in the general educational standard. "To disagree with three-fourths of the British public on all points is one of the first elements of sanity, one of the deepest consolations in all moments of spiritual doubt." – Oscar Wilde In November 2008, the mediocre GDC belatedly and retrospectively charged and found the first ever and only Negro dentist in Bedford guilty of using "kavoklave instead of autoclave" for two months in 1996, twelve years earlier! In 1996, the Caucasian predecessor at the dental practice had used the same autoclave for several years before the Negro took over from her. "No advance in wealth, no softening of manners, no reform or revolution has ever brought human equality a millimetre nearer." – George Orwell The GDC charged that there was "The need for an autoclave for sterilisation as opposed to the kavoklave that was in sole use." In 2007, in order to corroborate allegations by a racist and dishonest senior National Health Service (NHS) nurse, Rachael Bishop, the GDC went back to the year 1996 to find that kavoklave isn't an autoclave! The confused council didn't know that kavoklave is an autoclave. Dr Anand Kamath actually died in his home upon being threatened to be reported to the GDC. "Dr Prasad, the widow of Dr Anand Kamath, told an inquest he fell 'bullied and harassed' after being summoned for a meeting and sent a letter warning he could be reported to the General Dental Council." – Daily Mail, Eleanor Harding, 11.08.2013

A story about what happens the day the world runs out of money. And, more importantly, about what happens next as Bitcoin looms ever larger. Won't ever happen ? Remember Greece in '08. Fifty Euros max withdrawal ! Remember Lehman's .Too big too fail. Yeah, right. If it can happen to a country and it can happen to a bank what chance do the rest of us have? The good news though is that this is a work of fiction. Feeling better now? Thought not.

This book is crammed with stimulating ideas for the awkward transition times of the day, such as lining up and answering the register. The activities have been carefully chosen to ensure students work as a team, and develop their self-esteem, physical and mental health, but most importantly, ensure they have fun. Use these ideas to refresh repetitive routines. If they go smoothly, then the rest of the day will too.
